Labelled-unlabelled, boxed-not boxed, white & black, male & female, correct-incorrect; L-INKED/THE SOLO investigates the act of conscious and unconscious labelling to prejudice and stereotype people beyond their identity due to less knowledge of expressions and words.

This transdisciplinary solo performance is set between fictional and real scenarios, where choreographer and performing artist Jaskaran Anand, challenges the multi-directional reality of a geo-political and prefabricated sexualized human body by examining bodily desires between learned seductions and moments of glitch(es) and trance.
