

REBEL WITHOUT A CLUE

Stefanie Mold

Johnny said there are only two kind of people: Those who give a shit and those who don` t. I always gave.

Referring to old days in which both, travelling and tattooing, were way more connected to risk and adventure, I´ m getting a tattoo in every town. Knowing in advance that it neither makes me more courageous nor wild, I will put my skin to the test.

I like the idea of searching for something specific (a tattoer) in every town, which gives me at the same time a broad impression of the place.

With my project I´ m trying to analyse the nowadays phenomenon of so called coolness of rebellion and my own longing for being a wild child. which I will never be.
